Dear Julia:

On behalf of the Exhibits Committee, I want to take this opportunity to formally thank you for promoting the collections and services of MSU Libraries through your 3 West installation, Acadia to Zion: 100 Years of the National Park Service. Exhibit production is a unique scholarly/creative endeavor that requires considerable planning and time to develop a theme, research the topic, identify and select appropriate supporting materials, compose and refine accompanying text, and then artfully arrange items within the cases. Clearly attention was paid to all of these details and “best practices.” Your installation—appropriately timed to summer—was educational and visually engaging, garnering compliments from Library staff. I’m sure Library patrons were, likewise, compelled by the numerous artifacts to stop and take a closer look.

Exhibits are truly a valuable service to MSU Libraries. Thank you for your voluntary participation in this important PR activity that greatly enhances the Library as “place.” I look forward to future installations!
